MORE OF HELEN'S SUITORS.

GROCER LOOKS LIKE A COUNT-BARON SAYS HE'S REAL.

Grecer Wants His Pictures, Baron Wants His Letters, and the Latter Says He Borrowed the Jewelry the Lady Got Her Ball Left to Stand for All Cases.

Mrs. Bina F. Verrault, certain of whose love letters written over the name "Mrs. Helen Hamilton," have been made public in the last few days, left for the country yesterday afternoon, to get away, as she says, from men of all sorts and nationalities, who loved her for her money alone. With her went Mrs. James Pemberton

This was after Commissioner Shields had consented upon agreement between Assistant United States District Attorney Carmody and Hugh Gordon Miller, counsel for Mrs. Verrault, alias Hamilton, or vice versa, to let the $1,000 cash bail furnished last Friday in the shape of jewelry stand Verrault's appearance on September 26. Mr. Miller says that he is sure that his client will be on deck at that time to tell her side of the case in regard to those notorious love letters.

The new complaints were made by Leo Keisler and Gregor Zalinoff and accuse her of using the mails to defraud. Zalinoff floated into the United States District Attorney's office encased in white flannel trousers, white canvas shoes and some other clothes. He was put down as a count: but he turned out to be another grocer who but he turned out to be another grocer who said he answered one of Mrs. Verrault's advertisements, but that it had cost him nothing but chocolates, flowers, dinners and the like and no turquoises. Two pictures of himself which he had given to Mrs. Verrault he prized very highly, and he was very eager to get them back.

Zalinoff got his first letters in February of this year. When "Helen Hamilton" addressed him as "Dearest," she called herself "Lovingly your own sweetheart." To show

"Lovingly your own sweetheart." To show that others besides herself could fling terms of endearment in style, Mrs. Verrault yes-terday exhibited the following note, bearing the name "L. Keisler" embossed at the 871 West 120th St.,

My Adored Angel—Save my life and write to me, my sweetest love and joyful bride.

Am despondent and dying of melancholy. Ever and forever, Your Own. Hugh Gordon Miller reported late last night another disappointed suitor on the horizon. The suitor called on Mr. Miller horizon. The suitor called on Mr. Miller at his office yesterday afternoon and begged to get back the bundle of love notes he had written to Mrs. Hamilton. He said that he was a real German Baron, but that distinction hadn't prevented his arrival in this country penniless. Needing money, he arranged with a friend of his, a downtown jeweller, to lend him $1,000 of gems to make an impression on some fair and rich creature in search of a husband. He saw a "personal," answered it, became acquainted with Mrs. Verrault and gave her the jewels. Now they are gone and he hears he won't be able to share the big fortune of hers, which he was to divide with his friend the jeweller. Also he is afraid the jeweller will jeweller. Also he is afraid the jeweller will have him arrested if he doesn't get back the jewels.

Mrs. Brown denied yesterday for herself and her companion the flim-flamming of the H. B. Claffin Company and other tradesmen. Mr. Carmody assured them that he had never said they were members of a matrimonial swindling gang operating several houses on the upper West Side. They told him they lived in only one house at a time. This house was at the present time 323 West Eighty-second street, and it was time. This house was at the present time size west Eighty-second street, and it was just a plain private residence, where lived Mrs. Brown, the lessee; her daughter and son, her nephew, Gregory Allen, former assistant to Gutzon Borglum, sculptor, and "poor Mrs. Verrault." As to 114 West Seventy-third street, they hadn't been living there in some time, despite Verrault's statements to the contrary. statements to the contrary. w s Keisler, who doesn't dare show his

POPULIST POWER IN NEBRASKA. Indications Point to Berge, Bryan's Friend, Heading Democratic Ticket.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 14 .- The Democratic State convention to-morrow will be the biggest since 1896. It has already developed a bitter fight over the Governorship. Two years ago, through the influence of

Bryan, the convention nominated George W. Berge, a Populist. Berge made his campaign on opposition to railroad dictation in politics. He declared that the free pass was a bribe and ought to be abolished by law. He ran 30,000 votes ahead of Parker and Watson combined, but lost by 8,000. Berge's nomination by the Democrats was made grudgingly and former Congressman Shallenbarger, also a candidate, went put the Populist neckyoke on them. This year the Bourbon Democrats, when they heard that Berge was a candidate again and that Bryan would be home early in September, had the convention called before Bryan's time for arriving. Shallen-barger is again a candidate, as is also W. H. mpson, a close personal friend of Bryan

The Populist State convention meets here to-morrow and is again offering to fuse. All they ask is Berge's nomination. Berge has a large following in the Democratic convention (350 delegates out of 868) got by going out into the State and making a fight, although Berge is a Populist still a fight, although Berge is a Populist still. His friends say he will be nominated on the first or second ballot. The other kind of Democrats are sounding the slogan of Democrat for Democrats and a big rows slooked for. POPE'S ENCYCLICAL ON FRANCE

DECLINES TO OVERSTEP LAST STEP OF HIS AUTHORITY.

Terms the Separation Law Iniquitous and Denounces Those Who Say Republican Government in France is Odious to Him-Bishops Promise Fidelity to Him

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.
ROME, Aug. 14.—The encyclical of Pope Pius on the French law separating Church and State was published to-day. It says the Pope has been asked to "overstep the last limits of apostolic duty," and it places the responsibility with those "whose hatred has gone to such extremes."

The Pope says he has been patient in dealing with the matter out of love for the French nation. He declares that he has examined the "iniquitous law" with the greatest care to see if it allowed the exercise of religion without jeoparding the sacred principles of the Church. He had been hoping for some form of organization which might avert this danger. He then adds:

"But as this hope fails us and the law remains as it is we declare it is not permissible to try these other kinds of associations so long as they do not establish in the most legal and most positive way that the devine constitution of the Church, the immutable rights of the Roman Pontiff and the bishops and their authority over the temporal affairs of the Church, particularly the sacred edifices, will be irrevocably protected by such associations. We cannot wish otherwise without betraying our sacred charge and producing the ruin of the Church in France."

The encyclical urges the bishops to adopt all means within the law to organize their forces, and adds:

"It is not difficult to foresee the recriminations which the enemies of the Church will make against our present decree. They will seek to persuade the people that we do not seek the salvation of the Church, but that the form of the republic of France is odious to us. We denounce with indignation such insinuations as false.

"The makers of this law have not sought eparation, but oppression. While affirming their desire for peace they have made atrocious war against religion. They hurl a brand of the most violent discord, thus arraying one citizen against another, to the great detriment of public welfare. We have supported patiently injustice after injustice through love of the French nation and are finally asked to overstep the last limits of our apostolic duty, and we declared our inability to overstep them. Let the responsibility rest with those whose hatred has gone to such extremes.

"In the hour of hard trial for France if all unite in defending the supreme interests of the country the salvation of the Church is far from desperate. On the contrary it is to be hoped that her dignity will be raised to its former prosperous height."

The Osservatore Romano publishes today the reply of the French bishops, unanimously approving the terms of the Pope's encyclical against the separa-ion of Church and State. In the reply the bishops give thanks to God that they have been able to hold a plenary assembly while for a century past an unjust contract refused them this right.

The reply declares that the French bishops are unanimous on all questions of patriotism and faith and that the will of the Holy Father will always be their last word. The bishops thank the Popelfor having authorized them to deliberate on questions which his Holiness alone is able to settle. They affirm that they sacrificed at once, at his word, personal ideas which they might have

The reply declares the encyclical monument of divine and human wisdom It compares the condition of the faithful in France with that of the Hebrews re turning from Jerusalem after their long captivity and affirms the wish of the bishope to reestablish Jerusalem and its temple on the invitation of the Pontiff at whatever sacrifice. The reply approves all the condemnations pronounced by the encyclical and inveighs against what is called the criminal audacity of a power which, wishing to tear up a contract made with the Church, does so without putting herself into com munication with the head of the Church also condemns sacrilegious usurpation of ecclesiastical properties. In conclusion the reply reaffirms th fidelity of the Catholics of France to their faith and their resolution to obey the Holy Father. As soon, it says, as the French democracy sees things in their true light it will rise as one body in the faith of Christ and the love of the Pope.

"That is why we demand the right," says the reply, "to preserve for France all the privileges of her protectorate over Catholic interests in the Orient."

A second encyclical containing instrucions to the French clergy has been issued by the Pope. While his Holiness unhesitatingly refuses to consider the possibility

DATE FOR DUMA ELECTION. New Members Will Be Chesen in November

-Czar Will Centrel. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.
Sr. PETERSBURG, Aug. 14.—It was announced here to-day; that the Duma elections will be held in November. The Czar is regarded as being still under the control of the bureaucracy, and the next assembly is expected to be only nominally representative. It is accepted here as a foregone conclusion that the election, through fraud and intimidation, will be so controlled that the members chosen will be men largely under the influence of the group of man, nobles, who surround the Ozar, and their agents.

Certain public restrictions, too, are to be placed upon the new Duma. It, is to be specifically provided in advance that all legislation dealing with the power of the Throne and the liberties of the people shall originate only from the Czar and his Min-

The new body will be allowed to consider many minor matters, but they will have no power to put forward constitutional measures, nor without the consent of the Cabinet to consider any of the questions which have been agitating the Empire. Moreover, the Czar, it is understood, will retain a vetoing power which no majority of the Duma will be able to overcome.

OUTLAWS IN PHILIPPINES. Gov. Ide and Gen. Wood Adopt a New Plan to Suppress Them.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. MANILA Aug. 14.—Gov. Ide and Gen. Wood have had a conference with Brig-Gen. Lee, commanding the Visayas; Col. Taylor, commanding the constabulary, and fifteen presidents, concerning the recent outbreaks of the Pulajanes in the island of Leyte. Apparently the outbreaks were the result of political discord.

It was resolved at the conference to appoint a committee composed of Gen. Lee, Col. Taylor, Gov. de Veyra and three presidents opposed to the Governor politically, to visit the disaffected districts and urge the cooperation of the people for the suppression of outlawry and the elimination of political animosities.

Gov. Ide and Gen. Wood consider that the situation is well in hand and expect no further fighting. It is probable, however, that additional troops will be put in the field temporarily, to establish mountain garrions. The hotbed of the disturbances covers an area approximately thirty by twenty miles. Martial law is deemed unnecessary, for Gen. Lee is practically in

WONDERFUL TIME IN TRANSCON-TINENTAL TRIP.

L. Whitman and C. S. Carris Bid Fair to Reach Here From Frisco in Thirteen and a Half Days-A Journey to Pacific Coast to Please a Chinese Viceroy L. L. Whitman and C. S. Carris, who left San Francisco on August 2 in an effort to establish a new transcontinental automobile record, have made amazing time so far. They left

Chicago at 10 o'clock on Monday night and passed through Toledo yesterday at noon. They are expected to reach Syracuse this afternoon and hope to arrive in this city at 6 o'clock to-morrow morning, which would be just thirteen and one-half days after they had left San Francisco. The first trip acros the continent was made by Dr. Jackson of Vermont, who in 1903 made the trip with a Winton in sixty-four days. Tom Fetch made the journey a little later that year in a Packard, his time being sixty-one days. Then Whitman made the trip in an Oldsmobile runabout, which took seventy-two days. I was in 1904 that Whitman made the existing record of a few hours less than thirty-three days, travelling in a 10 horse-power Franklin. In his present trip Whitman is a six cylinder, 30 horse-power Franklin with a runabout body. He is bearing a letter of gratitude from Mayor Schmitz of San Francisco to Mayor McClellan of New York, thanking the people of New York for their liberality to those who suffered from the earthquake and fire at San Francisco. Whitman gained steadily on his old record from the start and in travelling from Sacramento, Cal., to the top of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, a climb of over 7,000 feet, nearly equalled the time of the Overland Limited the Union Pacific Railroad's fastest train. Ogden was reached in four days, though it had required ten days to cover the same distance in 1904. After this remarkable ride Whitman had high hopes of reaching New York in six days, making ten days for the cross continent trip. He found, however, that rivers had been swollen by recent heavy rains, making fording difficult and in man; cases dangerous, with innumerable irrigating ditches to further impede his progress. car was nearly submerged in crossing the Green River in Wyoming and six hours hard work were required to get it out. Quickbetween Rawlins and Cheyenne caused another delay of eight hours. At Omaha he was eleven days ahead of his former record, reaching there in nine days. Unless they encounter rainstorms on the trip through New York State it seems likely that Whitman and

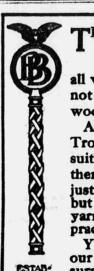

York State it seems likely that Whitman and Carris will arrive here some time to-morrow.

To satisfy the curiosity of their friend, Yuan Shai Kai, Viceroy of Chile Province, China, regarding the ability of American automobiles to make long and trying trips, Richard H. Little and Christian D. Haggerty will race an automobile from New York to San Francisco. They were American war correspondents during the recent war between Japan and Russia and met the Viceroy at Tientsin. When he determined to reorganize his army the Viceroy had his secretary, Fok Tong, write to the two Americans asking for information regarding the best automobiles made in this country, as he has decided to introduce self-propelled vehicles into his province for both military and commercial uses. He laid great stress on the ability to travel long distances at sustained speed, asking the qualification which would most appeal to him in selecting the type of automobile for use in China. So the former war correspondents decided to take a two cylinder Buick from New York to San Francisco in the quickest possible time and report the result to their Chinese friend. The car is to be driven by three experienced drivers, who will work in relays, two being with the car at all times, while the third travels ahead by raliroad so as to get some sleep en route. Norman De Vaux, who has twice ridden a bicycle across the continent, has been selected as the driver to take the car out of New York when it leaves Herald Square at 3 o'clock to-morrow morning. He will drive it to Albany along the east bank of the Hudson, where Whittle will take his place. De Vaux will leave the car at Rochester and his place will be taken by Stevens, who will remain in the car until Cleveland is reached. The car is due in Chicago at 7 o'clock on Saturday morning, and from there it will be driver to Clinton.

One of the matters discussed at the recent meeting of the committee of management.

Carris will arrive here some time to-morrow.

one of the matters discussed at the recent meeting of the committee of management of the American Motor Car Manufacturers' Association was the plan of securing a national automobile law. The suggestion was made by Charles E. Duryea, one of the pioneer automobile manufacturers of America, who is a member of the committee. He believes that State rights must be respected, but says that in the matter of numbers and general equipment the driving of automobiles comes under the interstate commerce act. President Isaac B. Potter of the American Motor League, who is an attorney, has advised the A. M. C. M. A. that in his opinion, a national law could be secured. On the matter of freight rates the association has been invited to have a representative attend the meeting of the official classification committee to be held in October, and in this matter the committee of management will cooperate with other associations, many of whom are doing good work along the lines propelled vehicles.
